These facilities include the Swabian Inn at Patch Barracks, Hilltop Hotel at Robinson Barracks and Kelley Hotel at Kelley Barracks.

BAS Policy Change

The Department of Defense is revising the way some soldiers will get money for meals.

Effective Jan. 2, most single soldiers in pay grades E-1 to E-6 were placed in a messing category called essential station messing. Soldiers in this category will receive basic allowance for subsistence every month and also have it deducted every month, regardless of whether they eat all meals in the dining facility or not.

Many soldiers were granted BAS under a blanket authorization. Under the new policy, all blanket authorizations must have been reviewed and substantiated by the installation commander in coordination with the supported battalion or brigade commander, or the equivalent, before Jan. 10. If not, the authorizations were terminated.

Soldiers in ESM status can request reimbursement for meals missed due to mission requirements. These requests, submitted on DD Form 1475 (basic allowance for subsistence certification), must be approved by the unit commander and processed through normal finance channels. The new policy also addresses soldiers on contingency operations, senior enlisted soldiers, officers and soldiers in a number of other categories. For more info on the new policy, contact Andy Rivera at 370-7314/civ. 06221-57-7314. or riveraa@hq.hqusareur.army.mil.
